The issue of a certificate of incorporation shall, subject to this Act, confer on the officers the powers to sue and the liability to be sued in the corporate name of the association, to make contracts binding on the association and all its members, to grant mortgages, pledges or liens over any property of the association and to dispose of any property of the association.

The managing committee shall hold any land and other property which it holds as such and exercise its powers as such for and on behalf of all members of the association on any exercise of its functions.

Where land is held on a certificate of customary ownership or a freehold or leasehold title by the managing committee on behalf of an association, no transactions of any kind in respect of the land or any part of the land shall be entered into or undertaken or concluded by the managing committee unless a majority convened for the purpose approve the specific transactions which are the subject of the meeting, and any transaction which is concluded which does not comply with this subsection shall be null and void and shall give rise to no rights or interest in the land.

20. Disputes.

(1) If a dispute arises within an association, the district registrar of titles may of his or her own motion or on a request in writing by not less than one-tenth of the membership of that association—undertake an inquiry into the activities of the association and the matters which have caused or contributed to the dispute;

refer the dispute to the board or such other person as he or she considers suitable to act as a conciliator to mediate the dispute between the members; propose amendments to the constitution or the rules of the association to avoid similar disputes in the future;

take such other action as he or she shall consider appropriate in the circumstances, including action under this section.

(2) Where the district registrar of titles has intervened in a dispute within an association under this section, all members of that association shall comply with any directions given by that officer in connection with the resolution of that dispute and shall cooperate with any person appointed by that officer to assist in resolving the dispute.

21. Dissolution and decertification of an association.

The managing committee may apply to the district registrar of titles for dissolution of the association.

An application under subsection (1) shall be made in the prescribed form and shall be—signed by the officers;

accompanied by the duly and properly signed minutes of the meeting of the members of the association specifically convened for the purpose at which a resolution to support the dissolution of the association was approved by a majority of all members of the association; and delivered or sent to the district registrar of titles within fourteen days of the date on which the resolution was approved.

The district registrar of titles may, if he or she thinks fit, consent to the dissolution applied for; but the consent shall not affect any liability for any debts or remove any obligation to pay any taxes, fees, dues or other sums which the officers, on behalf of the association, owed up to the time of the dissolution, and any action or proceedings against those officers which have been or which may be commenced in respect of any such debts or sums owing may be continued or commenced, as the case may be.

When an order of dissolution is consented to, the district registrar of titles shall—give appropriate publicity to the dissolution and its effect; cancel the certificate of incorporation of the association; and give such other directions and make such other orders as are necessary to give full effect to the dissolution and decertification of the association.

22. Individual holding of land created out of communal land.

Where an association holds land under a certificate of customary ownership or for a freehold title on behalf of a community, the association shall, where the customary law of the area makes provision for it, recognise and verify that all or part of the land so held by it is occupied and used by individuals and families for their own purposes and benefit.

For the purpose of holding land under customary tenure, a family shall be deemed to be a legal person represented by the head of the family.

Where any individual member of or family within a community referred to in subsection (1) or otherwise wishes to own, in his or her or their own capacity, land which is held communally but which, in accordance with customary law, is made available for the occupation and use of that individual or household, then—if it is before the land held by an association on behalf of the community, the individual or household may apply for a certificate of customary ownership under section 4, or for a freehold title under section 10, in respect of his or her or its portion of land, and sections 5 and 6 or, as the case may be,

11 to 14 shall apply to that application;

where the land communally owned is held by an association under a certificate of customary ownership, the individual or family may apply to the association to transfer to him, her or it, his or her or its portion of land, and the association shall consider the application and take a decision in the matter; and if the association approves the application, the applicant may cause his or her portion of the land to be demarcated and transferred to the applicant and registered by the recorder; (c) where the land communally owned is held by an association under freehold title, the individual or family may apply to the association to transfer to him, her or to it, his, her or its portion of land, and the association shall consider the application and take a decision in the matter; and if the association approves the application, the applicant may cause his or her portion of the land to be surveyed and transferred to the applicant and registered by the registrar.

(4) Any person aggrieved by a decision of the association under this section may appeal against the decision to the land tribunal; and the land tribunal may confirm, vary, reverse or modify the decision of the association and make such other order as it is empowered to make under this Act.

23. Establishment of areas of common land use in communally-owned land.

An association may, and shall, when so requested to do so by the community on whose behalf it holds land, set aside one or more areas of land for common use by members of the group.

The boundaries of any area of land which has been set aside for common use shall be marked out in such a manner, including any such manner as is customary among the persons who will use that land, so as to enable those persons to recognise and keep to those boundaries.

The purposes for which land may be set aside for common use are—the grazing and watering of livestock;

hunting;

the gathering of wood fuel and building materials;

the gathering of honey and other forest resources for food and medicinal purposes;

such other purposes as may be traditional among the community using the land communally.

24. Management of areas of common land use.

An area of land set aside for common use shall be used and managed in accordance with the terms of a common land management scheme.

A common land management scheme shall be made by an association, but it shall only come into effect when it is agreed to by the community on whose behalf the association holds land.

A common land management scheme may extend to cover the use and management of more than one area of common land.

A person who is not a member of the community may, with the agreement of the association, which agreement shall not be unreasonably withheld, use common land in accordance with the terms of the common land management scheme applicable to that land.

Where a common land management scheme is made in respect of land held by an association under freehold, all members of the community and persons referred to in subsection (4) shall be deemed to have the benefit and be subject to the burden of easements and rights in the nature of easements in respect of their use of the common land.

The board may prepare and publish a model common land management scheme; and where a model scheme has been published, an association shall have regard to that scheme when it makes its own scheme.

25. Content of common land management scheme.

(1) A common land management scheme may include all or any of the following matters as seems most appropriate to the association—a description of the area of common land to which it applies; where common land is to be used for the communal grazing and watering of livestock— (i) the numbers and type of livestock which each member of the community may graze on the common land; (ii) the locations within the common land where livestock may be grazed and the times when those locations may be used for the grazing; (iii) the routes to and from the common land which livestock are required to use;

where the common land is to be used for hunting, the terms and conditions on which hunting may take place, due regard being given to the Animal Diseases Act, Cattle Grazing Act and the Uganda Wildlife Act; and where common land is to be used for the gathering of wood fuel, building materials and other natural resources— (i) the amount of wood fuel, building materials and other natural resources which any member of the community may gather for the use of his or her homestead and his or her family; (ii) the terms and conditions on which wood fuel and other natural produce may be gathered for sale;

a description of the management activities to be undertaken by the association;

general rules concerning access to and use of common land by members of the community and by other persons;

fees that may be charged to those using the common land, and any such fees may differentiate between members of the community and other persons using the common land with permission of the association;

(h) the penalties that may be imposed on those violating the terms of the scheme, including the grounds for excluding any person from using the common land;

(i) the duration of the scheme;

(j) the procedures for reviewing and amending the scheme;

(k) such other matters as the members of the association may think fit to include or as may be prescribed.

(2) There shall be deemed to be included in every scheme the basic rights and duties of the members of the community using the common land to which that scheme applies as set out in section 26.

26. Basic rights and duties of members of the community using common land.

(1) The basic rights and duties of the members of a community under a common land management scheme are as follows—

(a) the right to make reasonable use of the common land, jointly with all other members of the group, in accordance with the terms of the scheme;

the right to gather wood fuel and building materials and harvest the resources of the common land in accordance with the terms of the scheme;

the duty to comply with and assist in the enforcement of the rules set out in the scheme;

the right to exclude nonmembers of the group from the common land, other than those nonmembers who have been permitted to enter and use the common land;

the duty to bear a reasonable and proportionate share of any expenses or losses incurred in using and managing the common land or through any natural disaster affecting the common land;

the duty to support the establishment and management of a fund for the purposes of carrying out activities on and improvements to the common land in accordance with the terms of the scheme and to pay into the fund any fees and penalties collected under the scheme;

the duty not to transfer any rights to occupy or use or gather the produce of any common land to any person whether for a fee or otherwise, except in accordance with the terms of the agreement and the rules of the scheme;

(h) the duty to comply with any decisions of the association or any dispute settlement body established by the association to settle disputes arising from the management of the scheme;

(i) such other basic rights and duties as may be proposed by the association and agreed to by the community.

(2) Any person aggrieved by a decision of an association made in connection with the management of a scheme may appeal against that decision to the land tribunal; and the land tribunal may confirm, vary, reverse or modify the decision of the association and make such other order in respect of that decision as it is empowered to make by this Act.

27. Rights of women, children and persons with a disability regarding customary land.

Any decision taken in respect of land held under customary tenure, whether in respect of land held individually or communally, shall be in accordance with the customs, traditions and practices of the community concerned, except that a decision which denies women or children or persons with a disability access to ownership, occupation or use of any land or imposes conditions which violate articles 33, 34 and 35 of the Constitution on any ownership, occupation or use of any land shall be null and void.

28. Conversion of leasehold into freehold.

(1) Any lease which was granted to a Ugandan citizen out of former public land and was subsisting on the coming into force of this Act may be converted into freehold if the board is satisfied that the following conditions have been complied with—that the leasehold is authentic and genuine; that there were no customary tenants on the land at the time of acquisition of the lease;

that if there were any customary tenants on the land at the time of acquisition whose tenancy was disclosed, those tenants were duly compensated; that all development conditions and covenants have been complied with;

that any other conditions imposed by law from time to time have been complied with; and that the conversion shall be limited to one hundred hectares and that any area in excess of one hundred hectares shall be converted only if the board has verified it and is satisfied that it is desirable in the public interest that it should be converted into freehold.

Where a lease of land exceeding one hundred hectares is converted into freehold, the owner shall pay the market value as determined by the chief government valuer for the new interest before the conversion becomes effective and the money paid shall become part of the Land Fund.

Any sublease held under a lease converted in accordance with subsection (1) shall be taken to be upgraded to a lease under the same terms, conditions and covenants.

Upon conversion the registrar shall endorse on the leasehold certificate of title the words “Converted to Freehold”, cite the applicable law and append his or her signature.

Nonendorsement of the leasehold certificate of title under subsection (4) shall not affect the validity of the conversion.

(6) The registrar shall have power to ask for the production of the duplicate of the certificate of title for endorsement in accordance with subsection (4).

The registrar shall endorse on a subleasehold deed to which subsection (3) applies the words “Converted to Leasehold”, cite the applicable law and append his or her signature.

Subsection (5) shall, with necessary modifications, apply to a subleasehold as it applies to a leasehold.

For the avoidance of doubt, the registrar shall issue a certificate of title in respect of any sublease upgraded to a lease under this section.

Nonendorsement shall not affect the validity of the conversion or upgrading.

Any person aggrieved by the decision of the board under this section may appeal to the land tribunal against the decision; and the land tribunal may confirm, reverse, vary or modify the decision and make such order as it may think fit.

29. Meaning of “lawful occupant” and “bona fide occupant”.

(1) “Lawful occupant” means—a person occupying land by virtue of the repealed— (i) Busuulu and Envujjo Law of 1928; (ii) Toro Landlord and Tenant Law of 1937; (iii) Ankole Landlord and Tenant Law of 1937;

a person who entered the land with the consent of the registered owner, and includes a purchaser; or a person who had occupied land as a customary tenant but whose tenancy was not disclosed or compensated for by the registered owner at the time of acquiring the leasehold certificate of title.

(2) “Bona fide occupant” means a person who before the coming into force of the Constitution—had occupied and utilised or developed any land unchallenged by the registered owner or agent of the registered owner for twelve years or more; or had been settled on land by the Government or an agent of the Government, which may include a local authority.

(3) In the case of subsection (2)(b)—

the Government shall compensate the registered owner whose land has been occupied by persons resettled by the Government or an agent of the Government under the resettlement scheme; persons resettled on registered land may be enabled to acquire registrable interest in the land on which they are settled; and the Government shall pay compensation to the registered owner within five years after the coming into force of this Act.

For the avoidance of doubt, a person on land on the basis of a licence from the registered owner shall not be taken to be a lawful or bona fide occupant under this section.

Any person who has purchased or otherwise acquired the interest of the person qualified to be a bona fide occupant under this section shall be taken to be a bona fide occupant for the purposes of this Act.

30. Mediator to assist persons not qualified to be bona fide occupants.

Where a person has occupied and utilised or developed any land unchallenged by the registered owner of the land or agent of the registered owner for less than twelve years and therefore does not qualify to be a bona fide occupant under section 29, that person shall take all reasonable steps to seek and identify the registered owner of the land for the purpose of undertaking negotiations with that owner concerning his or her occupation of the land.

Where any negotiations are entered into between the occupant and the registered owner under subsection (1) and the parties are unable, within a prescribed time, to reach agreement in the matter of the occupation of the land, either party may, in the prescribed manner, invite the mediator to assist them in their negotiations.

The mediator may, upon being invited under subsection (2) and after satisfying himself or herself that there are reasonable prospects of reaching a satisfactory agreement between the parties, accept the invitation and give all reasonable assistance to the parties to reach an agreement on the occupation.

31. Tenant by occupancy.

A tenant by occupancy on registered land shall enjoy security of occupancy on the land.

The tenant by occupancy referred to in subsection (1) shall be deemed to be a tenant of the registered owner to be known as a tenant by occupancy, subject to such terms and conditions as are set out in this Act or as may be prescribed.

The tenant by occupancy shall pay to the registered owner an annual nominal ground rent as shall be determined by the board.

The tenant and the registered owner if aggrieved by the decision of the board may appeal against the decision to the land tribunal; and the tribunal may confirm, reverse, vary or modify the decision or make such other orders as it is empowered to make by this Act.

The approved rent determined under subsection (3) shall not exceed one thousand shillings per year irrespective of the area or location of the land.

If a tenant by occupancy fails to pay the approved ground rent for a period exceeding two years, the registered owner shall give a notice in the prescribed form to the tenant requiring him or her to show cause why the tenancy should not be terminated for nonpayment of rent and shall send a copy of the notice to the committee.

If the ground rent is not paid within one year from the date of service of notice or the tenant by occupancy has not taken any steps within six months after the date of service of the notice to challenge the notice by referring to the land tribunal, the registered owner may apply to the land tribunal for an order terminating the tenancy for nonpayment of the rent.

The maximum annual ground rent referred to in subsection (5) may be revised every five years by regulations made under section 93.

For the avoidance of doubt, the security of tenure of a lawful or bona fide occupant shall not be prejudiced by reason of the fact that he or she does not possess a certificate of occupancy.

32. Jurisdiction of land tribunal in respect of nonpayment of ground rent.

(1) In any case before a land tribunal concerning the nonpayment of the ground rent referred to in section 31, whether the case is commenced by a tenant or a landlord, the land tribunal shall have regard to the following factors—whether the person claiming the ground rent is the registered owner of the land or his or her lawfully authorised agent;

whether the landlord has interfered with the quiet enjoyment by the tenant of his or her occupation of the land or contravened in any way section 31(1);

the circumstances, means and the necessary outgoings of the tenant;

whether the tenant has vacated the land, leaving dependents with no means of support on the land;

whether the nonpayment of the ground rent is deliberate;

the efforts made by the tenant or the dependents referred to in paragraph (d) to pay the ground rent;

any negotiations over the arrears which have taken place between the landlord and the tenant and their outcome;

(h) the likelihood that if the arrears were averaged out over such reasonable period as the tribunal may determine, the tenant or dependent referred to in paragraph (d) would be able to pay both those arrears and the regular yearly ground rent;

(i) such other factors as the land tribunal shall think relevant or as may be prescribed.

(2) After hearing the parties to the case, the land tribunal shall make an order—directing that the tenant shall pay the arrears either in one lump sum by a due date or in installments over such period of time as the tribunal shall set;

granting the application for the termination of the tenancy but suspending the coming into effect of the order so as to allow the tenant the opportunity to pay the arrears in accordance with any order made for their payment by the tribunal; or granting the application for the termination of the tenancy stating in the order the date, being not less than six months from the date of the order, by which the tenant shall have vacated the land, and may grant any such order on such conditions, if any, as to expenses, damages, compensation or any other relevant matter as the tribunal thinks fit.

33. Certificate of occupancy.

A tenant by occupancy may apply to the registered owner for and be issued with a certificate of occupancy in the prescribed form in respect of the land which he or she occupies in accordance with this section.

On receipt of the application, the registered owner shall notify the committee; and the committee shall appoint a day, being not less than three weeks and not more than three months from the date of the receipt of the application, when it will meet at the place where the land is situated to determine, verify and adjudicate on the boundaries to the land and shall inform the tenant by occupancy and the owner of that date.

In exercising its functions of determining, verifying and adjudicating on the boundaries of the land, the committee shall, in the exercise of any of its powers under this section which involve a hearing of the affected parties, comply with the rules of natural justice and, subject to that duty, may—hear evidence which would not be admissible in a court of law;

call evidence of its own motion;

use evidence contained in any official record or adduced in any other claim; and generally, determine its own procedures.

A determination of the committee on the boundaries of the land shall be sent to the tenant in occupancy and the owner of the land.

A tenant in occupancy shall only be entitled to be issued with a certificate of occupancy if he or she has paid the ground rent for the land and has no arrears of ground rent outstanding or where there are arrears, the matter has been determined by a decision of the land tribunal under section 32.

Subject to subsection (5), on receipt of the determination of the committee, the owner shall, without undue delay, give a consent in the prescribed form to the tenant.

Where the registered owner has not, within six months after the receipt of the determination of the committee, granted a consent to a certificate of occupancy to the tenant by occupancy, the tenant may appeal to the land tribunal; and the land tribunal shall proceed as provided for in this Act to grant a consent to the certificate of occupancy.

A grant of consent shall entitle the tenant by occupancy to be issued with a certificate of occupancy by the recorder, and the recorder shall, on being satisfied with the grant of consent, issue a certificate of occupancy to the tenant by occupancy who presented the grant of consent to the recorder.

The recorder shall notify the registrar of the issue of a certificate of occupancy, and every such certificate shall be notified as an encumbrance on the certificate of title of the owner of the land.

34. Transactions with the tenancy by occupancy.

A tenant by occupancy may, in accordance with this section, assign, sublet, pledge, create third party rights in, subdivide and undertake any other lawful transaction in respect of the occupancy.

A tenancy by occupancy may be inherited.

Prior to undertaking any transaction to which subsection (1) refers, the tenant by occupancy shall submit an application in the prescribed form to the owner of the land for his or her consent to the transaction.

The registered owner shall, within six weeks from the date of receipt of the application or such longer time as may be prescribed, either grant a consent to the transaction in the prescribed form, with or without conditions, or refuse consent to the transaction.

Where the registered owner refuses to grant consent to the transaction or grants consent subject to conditions which the tenant by occupancy objects to or fails within the prescribed time to give any decision on the application, the tenant by occupancy may appeal to the land tribunal against the refusal.

For the purposes of appealing under this section, the conditions or, as the case may be, the failure to give a decision referred to in subsection (5) shall be taken to be a refusal.

The land tribunal shall, in the exercise of its functions under this section, grant the consent, with or without conditions which may include or depart from conditions imposed by the owner, or refuse consent to the transaction or may adjourn the proceedings to enable the parties to reach an agreement on the matter.

A copy of every consent, signed by the owner or, where the consent has been granted by the land tribunal, by the secretary of the tribunal, shall be delivered or sent to the recorder who shall keep a record in the prescribed form of all such consents.

No transaction to which this section applies shall be valid and effective to pass any interest in land if it is undertaken without a consent as provided for in this section, and the recorder shall not make any entry on the record of any such transaction in respect of which there is no consent.

35. Option to purchase.

A tenant by occupancy who wishes to assign the tenancy shall, subject to this section, give the first option of taking the assignment of the tenancy to the owner of the land.

The owner of land who wishes to sell the reversionary interest in the land shall, subject to this section, give the first option of buying that interest to the tenant by occupancy.

Any offer made under this section shall be on a willing buyer willing seller basis.

Where an option to buy is offered to any party under subsection (1) or (2), the party who makes the offer must set out the terms of the offer with sufficient detail and clarity for the party to whom the offer is made to understand the offer and make an appropriate response to it.

(5) A party to whom an offer to buy is made under subsection (1) or (2) shall, within three months after the receipt of the offer, either refuse the offer or make such a response as will enable meaningful negotiations to take place between the parties.

(6) Either party to the negotiations to which subsection (5) refers may, at any time after three months have elapsed since the negotiations commenced, refer the matter to the mediator for him or her to assist the parties to reach an agreement.

(7) Where the mediator is unable, after three months of negotiations, to assist the parties to reach an agreement on the option to buy, he or she shall make a declaration to that effect; and the party who made the offer of the option to buy shall thereupon be enabled to assign the tenancy by occupancy or, as the case may be, sell the reversionary interest free of the option to buy, to such other person as he or she thinks fit.

36. Mutual agreement between tenant by occupancy and registered owner.

A registered owner and a tenant by occupancy may mutually agree that the land in which a tenant by occupancy has an interest be subdivided in such portions as the parties may agree with each party having exclusive occupancy or ownership of such portions as may be agreed or that the parties become joint proprietors of the land either as joint tenants or as tenants in common, and where they agree to be tenants in common, the shares of each in the land on such terms and conditions as they may agree.

Where the parties agree to subdivide the land and become owners of individual portions of the subdivided land or where the parties agree to become joint proprietors of the land, they shall provide the registrar with documentary evidence of their agreement and certified survey plans where applicable, and the registrar shall—make the appropriate entries on the certificate of title of the land;

issue new certificates of title to the parties;

inform the recorder of the changes that must be made to the certificate of occupancy, including where relevant the cancellation of the certificate.

37. Abandonment and termination of occupancy.

(1) Subject to section 27, where a tenant by occupancy voluntarily abandons his or her occupancy—the right of occupancy shall lapse;

the occupant may remove any structures, buildings and other things placed by him or her on the land but not dams or trees;

the occupant is not entitled to any compensation for loss of the occupancy.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a person shall be taken to have abandoned his or her occupancy—where he or she gives notice to the registered owner of his or her intention to abandon the occupancy; where he or she leaves the whole of the land unattended to by himself or herself or a member of his or her family or his or her authorised agent for three years or more.

Where the occupant proves that he or she was under a disability during any part of the period, the period of three years shall be extended by the period during which disability prevented the tenant by occupancy from exercising his or her right of occupancy and there was no member of the family and no authorised agent who could exercise the right of occupancy on behalf of the tenant.

Where the tenant by occupancy is compelled to vacate the land by reason of the fact that his or her building has been condemned or demolished by order of a body or authority authorised to do so under any enactment, then where the occupancy is in respect of land in an urban area—the occupant's right of occupancy shall not be taken to have been extinguished;

if development is not possible, owing to planning or building restrictions under any law, the occupant is entitled to assign his or her right of occupancy giving the registered owner the first option;

the registered owner shall have the right with the approval of the board to acquire the right of occupancy upon payment to the occupant of compensation for the right of occupancy and any development of the land, determined by a valuer appointed by the Government.

(5) The urban council within whose jurisdiction land in an urban area is situated may determine that, subject to any existing scheme approved under the Town and Country Planning Act, no building may be erected and no development may be carried out on that land unless the owner and the tenants by occupancy have agreed to a programme of planned development which has been approved by that urban council; and any such programme of planned development shall include arrangements for the future ownership and occupation of the land, having regard to the provisions of this Act.

38. Registrable interest.

(1) A tenant by occupancy referred to in section 31 may, in accordance with this section, acquire any of the following registrable interests in respect of the land he or she occupies—freehold;

Any tenant by occupancy who wishes to acquire any of the registrable interests referred to in subsection (1) may apply to the registered owner.

Upon receipt of the application referred to in subsection (2), the registered owner may cause the registrable interest to be granted upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

The registered owner shall, within three months after the receipt of the application, either refuse the offer or make such a response as will enable meaningful negotiations to take place between the parties.

Where the parties have agreed to negotiate, either party to the negotiations to which subsection (4) refers may at any time after three months have elapsed since the negotiations commenced refer the matter to the mediator for him or her to assist the parties to reach an agreement on the acquisition of the registrable interest.

Where the mediator is unable, after three months of negotiations, to assist the parties to reach an agreement on the acquisition of the registrable interest, he or she shall make a declaration to that effect and shall thereafter be entitled to withdraw from assisting the parties with their negotiations; but any such withdrawal shall not operate to prevent the parties from continuing to negotiate on the acquisition of the registrable interest.

39. Restrictions on transfer of land by family members.

(1) No person shall—sell, exchange, transfer, pledge, mortgage or lease any land;

enter into any contract for the sale, exchange, transfer, pledging, mortgage or lease of any land; or (c) give away any land inter vivos, or enter into any other transaction in respect of land—

(i) in the case of land on which the person ordinarily resides with his or her spouse and from which they derive their sustenance, except with the prior written consent of the spouse;

(ii) in the case of land on which a person ordinarily resides with his or her dependent children of majority age, except with the prior written consent of the dependent children of majority age;

(iii) in the case of land on which a person ordinarily resides with his or her children below the age of the majority, except with the prior written consent of the committee;

(iv) in the case of land on which ordinarily reside orphans below majority age with interest in inheritance of the land, except with the prior written consent of the committee.

Subsection (1) shall not apply to any transfer of land by a mortgagee in exercise of powers under the mortgage.

Where consent is required to be given by a person other than the committee under subsection (1), the consent shall be given to the committee by the person giving the consent.

Where any transaction is entered into by a purchaser in good faith and for value without notice that subsection (1) has not been complied with, the transaction shall be void; but the purchaser shall have the right to claim from any person with whom he or she entered into the transaction any money paid or any consideration given by him or her in respect of the transaction.

A consent referred to in subsection (1) shall not be unreasonably withheld.

Where the consent referred to in subsection (1) is withheld, a person aggrieved by the withholding of the consent may appeal to the land tribunal; and the tribunal shall require the spouse or children of majority age or the committee, as the case may be, to show cause why they cannot give consent and may, in its discretion, dispense with the consent.

(7) The spouse or children of majority age, not being the owners of any land to which subsection (1) applies, may lodge a caveat on the certificate of title or certificate of customary ownership of the person who is the owner of the land to indicate that the property is subject to the requirement of consent under subsection (1).

The committee may, on behalf of the children below majority age or orphans below majority age and not being owners, take action similar to that described in subsection (7).

In this section—

“notice” means actual or constructive notice;

“purchaser” means a grantee, lessee, sublessee, assignee, mortgagee, chargee or other person who acquires an estate or an interest or right in the land.

40. Acquisition of land by a noncitizen.

Subject to article 237(2)(c) of the Constitution, a noncitizen may acquire a lease in land in accordance with this section.

A lease of five years or more acquired by a noncitizen shall be registered in accordance with the Registration of Titles Act.

A noncitizen shall not be granted a lease exceeding ninety-nine years.

Subject to the other provisions of this section, a noncitizen shall not acquire or hold mailo or freehold land.

For the avoidance of doubt, any noncitizen who immediately before the coming into force of the Constitution held land as lessee on conversion within the meaning of the Land Reform Decree, 1975, shall be deemed to have continued to be a lessee in accordance with the conditions of the lease.

Any citizen holding land under freehold or mailo tenure who loses Ugandan citizenship shall have the freehold or mailo tenure converted to a leasehold tenure for a period of ninety-nine years.

(7) For the purposes of this section, “noncitizen” means—

(a) a person who is not a citizen of Uganda as defined by the

in the case of a corporate body, a corporate body in which the controlling interest lies with noncitizens;

in the case of bodies where shares are not applicable, where the body’s decision making lies with noncitizens;

a company in which the shares are held in trust for noncitizens;

a company incorporated in Uganda whose articles of association do not contain a provision restricting transfer or issue of shares to noncitizens.

(8) For purposes of subsection (7), “controlling interest” means—in the case of companies with shares, the majority shares are held by persons who are not citizens; and

An appeal from the decision of a district land tribunal in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction shall lie to the High Court.

88. Customary dispute settlement and mediation.

(1) Nothing in this Part shall be taken to prevent or hinder or limit the exercise by traditional authorities of the functions of determining disputes over customary tenure or acting as a mediator between persons who are in dispute over any matters arising out of customary tenure.

(2) At the commencement of a case or at any time during the hearing of the case, a land tribunal may advise the parties to the case that, in its opinion, the nature of the case is such that the parties would be better served by using mediation to resolve their differences than by continuing with litigation in the tribunal; and where such an opinion has been given, the land tribunal may adjourn the case for such period as it considers fit to enable the parties to use the services of the traditional authorities or the mediator or some other person to mediate in the dispute.

89. Functions of the mediator.

There shall be a mediator who shall be appointed by the land tribunal, and the appointment shall be on ad hoc basis.

The mediator shall be a person of high moral character and proven integrity who by virtue of his or her skill, knowledge, work, standing or reputation in society is capable and likely to be able to bring parties who are in disagreement or dispute about an issue over land arising out of any matter provided for in this Act together to negotiate and reach a mutually satisfactory agreement or accommodation on that matter.

The mediator shall have such functions as are provided for in this Act or as may be conferred on him or her by regulations.

In the exercise of his or her functions, the mediator shall be independent and shall not be subject to the direction or control of any other person.

In exercising any functions under this Act, the mediator shall be guided by the principles of natural justice, general principles of mediation and the desirability of assisting the parties to reconcile their differences, understand each other's point of view and be prepared to compromise to reach an agreement; but the mediator shall not compel or direct any party to a mediation to arrive at any particular conclusion or decision on any matter the subject of the mediation.

The mediator shall in each case be a person agreed to by the two parties.

(7) A mediator shall be paid such allowance as may be prescribed. PART VI—MISCELLANEOUS.
90. Disposal of fees, etc.

All rents, fees and other revenues received by a board in respect of lands and in respect of its activities under this Act shall be paid to the district treasury and form part of the revenues of the district administration, except that revenues received by the board in respect of urban land shall be paid to and form part of the revenue of the urban authority.

The fees for assurance of title shall be part of the Consolidated Fund.

91. Special powers of registrar.

Subject to the Registration of Titles Act, the registrar shall, without referring a matter to a court or a district land tribunal, have power to take such steps as are necessary to give effect to this Act, whether by endorsement or alteration or cancellation of certificates of title, the issue of fresh certificates of title or otherwise.

The registrar shall, where a certificate of title or instrument—is issued in error;

contains a misdescription of land or boundaries;

contains an entry or endorsement made in error;

contains an illegal endorsement;

is illegally or wrongfully obtained; or is illegally or wrongfully retained, call for the duplicate certificate of title or instrument for cancellation, or correction or delivery to the proper party.

(3) If a person holding a certificate of title or instrument referred to in subsection (2) fails or refuses to produce it to the registrar within a reasonable time, the registrar shall dispense with the production of it and amend the registry copy and where necessary issue a special certificate of title to the lawful owner.

(4) The registrar may—

(a) correct errors in the Register Book or in entries made in it; correct errors in duplicate certificates or instruments; and supply entries omitted under this Act.

The registrar may make amendments consequent upon alterations in names or boundaries but in the correction of any such error or making of any such amendment shall not erase or render illegible the original words.

Upon the exercise of the powers conferred on the registrar under subsection (5), the registrar shall affix the date on which the correction or amendment was made or entry supplied and shall initial it.

Any error or any entry corrected or supplied under this section shall have the same validity and effect as if the error had not been made or entry not omitted.

In the exercise of any powers under this section, the registrar shall—give not less than twenty-one days' notice in the prescribed form to any party likely to be affected by any decision made under this section; provide an opportunity to be heard to any such party to whom a notice under paragraph (a) has been given;

conduct any such hearing in accordance with the rules of natural justice but subject to that duty, shall not be bound to comply with the rules of evidence applicable in a court of law;

give reasons for any decision that he or she may make.

The registrar shall communicate his or her decision in writing to the parties and the committee.

Any party aggrieved by a decision or action of the registrar under this section may appeal to the district land tribunal within sixty days after the decision was communicated to that party.

Where the registrar has cancelled a certificate of title or an entry in the Register Book, a party in whose favour the cancellation is made shall not transfer the title until the expiry of the time within which an appeal may be lodged; and where an appeal is lodged against the cancellation, he or she shall not transfer the title until the determination of the appeal.

(12) The party who lodges an appeal under this section shall take steps to ensure that the registrar and the other party are served with the notice of appeal.

(13) Where the person who appealed under this section fails to prosecute the appeal, the tribunal shall, on application by any other party to the appeal, strike out the appeal.

92. Offences and penalties.

(1) A person who—being a noncitizen, acquires land in freehold using fraudulent means;

makes a false declaration in any manner relating to land; wilfully and without the consent of the owner occupies land belonging to another person; or being a member of the land tribunal, a board, a committee, solicits or receives any payment from any person to whom any service is rendered under this Act being payment which the member is not authorised to collect or receive under this Act, commits an offence.

A person convicted of an offence specified in subsection (1)(a) is liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand currency points or imprisonment not exceeding three years or both.

A person convicted of an offence specified in subsection (1)(b) is liable to a fine not exceeding twenty-five currency points or imprisonment not exceeding one year or both.

A person convicted of an offence specified in subsection (1)(c) is liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty-five currency points or imprisonment not exceeding six months or both.

A person who commits an offence under subsection (1)(d) is liable upon conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty-five currency points or imprisonment not exceeding six months or both.

A court convicting a person of an offence to which subsection (4) relates may, in addition, issue a warrant addressed to a police officer requiring the officer immediately and subject to such conditions as the court may impose to—enter upon the land which was the subject of the conviction;

dispossess and remove from the land the person convicted together with his or her family, dependents and servants;

take possession of the land on behalf of the owner, together with crops growing on the land and buildings and other immovable property; hand over the property to the owner immediately after taking possession.

(7) No order shall be made under subsection (6)(c) if the court is satisfied that some person other than the person convicted or his or her family, dependents or servants is in lawful possession of the land.

93. Regulations.

The Minister may, by statutory instrument with the approval of Parliament, make regulations generally for better carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

Without prejudice to the general effect of subsection (1), regulations made under this section may—prescribe the procedure to be followed in the alienation of freehold and leasehold and the terms and conditions of any such grant;

fix fees to be charged for the preparation of any documents for or in connection with any disposition or dealing in land; fix charges to be made by a board or commission in respect of agreements or other documents for the occupation of land; and prescribe anything to be prescribed under this Act.

94. Power of Minister to amend Schedule.

The Minister may, with the approval of the Cabinet, by statutory instrument, amend the Schedule to this Act.

95. Transitional provisions.

(1) An interim district land board established under section 7 of the Constitution (Consequential Provisions) Statute shall continue in existence until the board established by the Constitution and referred to in this Act is appointed.

The board referred to in subsection (1) shall be appointed within six months from the date of the coming into force of this Act.

On the coming into force of this Act, a former controlling authority shall cease to deal with any land matter, which was pending before it, and any such matter shall be transferred to the board.

A person whose lease had expired by the time of the coming into force of the Constitution and who had partially or fully developed the land, shall be entitled to a fresh grant upon application to the board.

Where any case relating to a land dispute was pending before the High Court prior to coming into force of this Act, that case shall continue to be heard by the High Court until completion.

Where any case relating to a land dispute was pending before a magistrate's court or an executive committee court prior to the 2nd July, 2000, the case shall continue to be heard by the magistrate's court or the local council court until completion.

Until the land tribunals are established and commence to operate under this Act, magistrates courts and executive committee courts shall continue to have the jurisdiction they had immediately before the 2nd July, 2000.

Any person who immediately before 2nd July, 2000, had a right to appeal to a magistrate's court or an executive committee court in respect of a land dispute but could not exercise that right owing to section 98(7) of the Land Act, 1998, shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary, have the right to appeal to that court.
